Summary

I'm programer, At this time, I'm developing my website that I write in the language of programming PHP, I was taught in the university, and I love it. Also in the university I taught languages perl, c + +, c, Delphi, and others but I prefer PHP. I also read a lot about ruby on rails and I really liked it.

On my current job I do not like the fact that I do not write in the Treasury program and this work does not give me the right to develop in line. I want to develop and write programs, websites because I like it. I hope my own web site will be proof that I studied programming languages at the university, and it gives me a chance to rise up the career ladder.

5 years at university i was attend extra classes in English and do not regret it.

I always learn English . English is the language of business and this is true.
